About the Ryukoku University Japan Studies Program (JSP)

Exchange students will primarily pursue their studies through the Ryukoku Japan Studies Program (JSP), which will be launched in April 2026. The JSP curriculum is built upon the university's guiding principle of "Magokoro" (sincerity, compassion, and altruism). It offers a combination of three subject groups: Japanese language study, international collaborative courses that involve Project-Based Learning (PBL) with domestic and other international students, and subjects focused on Japanese society, culture, and industry.

In addition to courses offered in Japanese and elective subjects, JSP also offers many subjects taught in English. This allows a wide range of students to enroll, from Japanese language beginners to advanced learners aiming to take the Japanese Language Proficiency Test (JLPT). This program is designed to provide significant academic and personal growth through field trips, cultural activities, and interaction with the local community. Furthermore, students who meet certain conditions may also be permitted to enroll in courses offered by Ryukoku University's undergraduate and graduate schools (All Exchange Students may register for regular subjects which are offered in English. Only students assigned to JSP IV・JSP V may register for regular subjects which are offered in Japanese). Overall, during their exchange term, students are required to register for 15 or more credits per semester.

IMPORTANT! Courses of Study

●There are three courses of study for exchange students, as follows:

① Ryukoku Japan Studies Program (JSP)

This program aims to provide an opportunity for international students and local Ryukoku University students to learn together, deepen their understanding of different cultures and values, and develop practical communication skills. Students from diverse backgrounds collaborate in their classes through discussions, group work, and fieldwork. Subjects are offered in both Japanese and English. In addition, it is possible to complete the program entirely in English so students who have never studied Japanese are able to participate.

If a student wishes to register for subjects conducted in Japanese, they must be assessed as having the necessary level of Japanese proficiency (based on the results of the Placement Test). If the student's Japanese proficiency is not sufficient, they will take classes conducted in English.

Furthermore, students assigned to classes JSP-1 ~ JSP-III may register for undergraduate-level and graduate-level subjects offered in English. Students assigned to classes JSP-IV and JSP-V are eligible to register for all undergraduate-level and graduate-level subjects.

② Registration for Regular Undergraduate Faculty Classes Only

This option applies to Exchange Students who, based on the conditions set forth in the Student Exchange Agreement concluded between specific Faculties at both universities, may only register for classes in the Faculty to which they belong. (Ryukoku University Faculty of Economics and Dalian University of Foreign Languages School of Japanese Studies）

③ Registration for Regular Graduate School Classes Only

This option applies to Exchange Students who, based on the conditions set forth in a Student Exchange Agreement concluded between specific Graduate Schools at both universities, may only register for classes in the Graduate School to which they belong. (Agreements concluded with our Graduate School of Advanced Science and Technology).

IMPORTANT! Course Selection and Results（Important）

●First, the student should confirm with the Study Abroad Coordinator at their home university regarding whether exchange student is possible under the existing Student Exchange Agreement. In some cases, due to agreements concluded between specific Faculties or Graduate Schools, the student may be limited to registering for subjects only within a specific major.

● If the student selects the English Track, they will not be able to register for subjects conducted in Japanese.
If you indicate this selection (JSP-I) in your application, you will be placed in a Japanese language class at the JSP-I level. In principle, it is not possible to change to JSP-II or a higher-level class after submitting your application, so please consider your choice carefully before applying. However, exchange students with a one-year exchange term may, if they wish, take a Japanese language placement test after the end of their first semester. If these placement test results indicate that the student possesses Japanese language proficiency equivalent to JSP-II or above, they may be assigned to JSP-II or another appropriate higher-level class in their second semester.
Please note that the final class placement will be determined by Ryukoku University based on the placement test results and the student's overall Japanese language proficiency.

●For the Japanese track, it is recommended that the student has completed at least 300 hours of Japanese language study or has Japanese proficiency equivalent to JLPT N4 or higher.

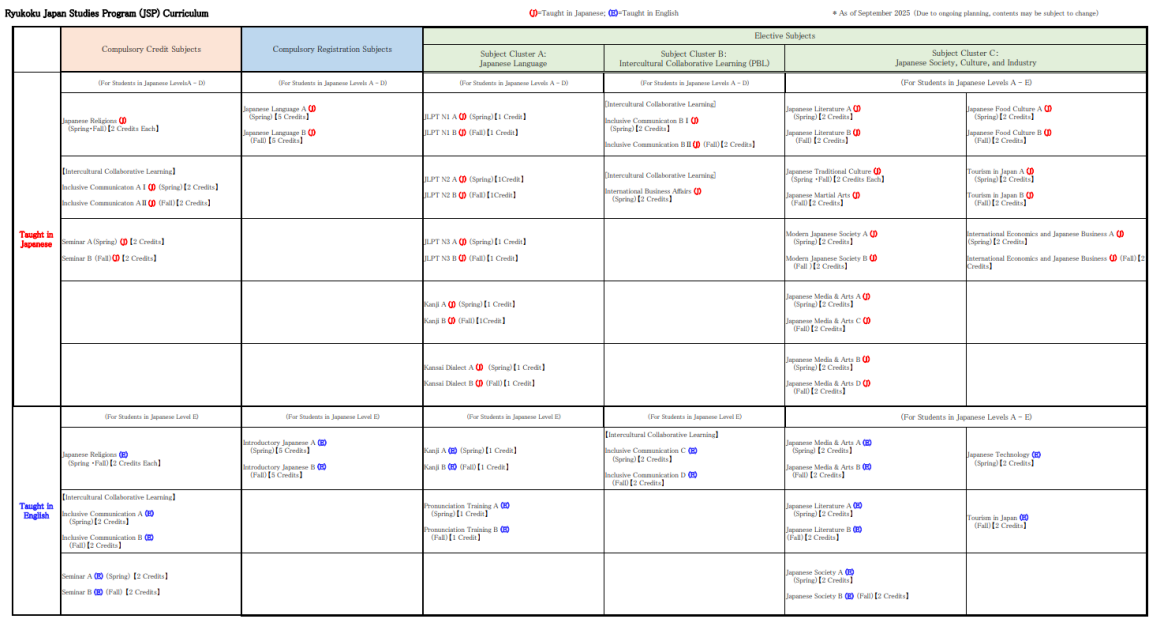

●Based on the results of the Japanese placement test, if the student's Japanese level is determined to be lower than that required for entry into JSP-II, they may be reassigned to JSP-I (English Track)

JSP Curriculum

The JSP curriculum is structured to include <Core Required Subjects> (for which credit acquisition is mandatory), <Required Enrollment Subjects> (which all students must take but credit acquisition is not mandatory), and <Elective Subjects>. Elective Subjects are divided into three clusters: Subject Cluster A ~ Subject Cluster C.

Subject Cluster A	Japanese Language	A group of subjects specializing in Japanese language study. Offers diverse learning related to the Japanese language, ranging from JLPT (Japanese Language Proficiency Test) preparation to linguistics.
Subject Cluster B	Intercultural Collaborative Learning (PBL)	A group of subjects taken alongside Ryukoku University's domestic students. These are conducted in a small group, project-based Learning (PBL) format.
Subject Cluster C	Japanese Society, Culture, and Industry	A group of subjects focused on Japanese society and culture, economics, business, and other topics. This category offers a diverse lineup, ranging from subjects easily accessible for the purpose of experiential learning and cultural exchange, to more specialized academic subjects.

- There are subjects offered in both Japanese and English, allowing you to select subjects that match your individual needs and language ability.
- Japanese language subjects are be organized into classes based on proficiency level.

Exchange Conditions

The conditions of your exchange are based on the terms and conditions in the Student Exchange Agreement between your Home University and Ryukoku University. Please consult your Home University if you are unsure of these conditions.

Bank Accounts

Financial transactions such as scholarship payments, dormitory fees, and electricity bills will, in principle, be handled through direct debit from a bank account. Therefore, a pre-arrival orientation is scheduled to be held in February, during which further details will be explained.

Please note that it usually takes about two months after opening a bank account before automatic withdrawal for dormitory fees can be set up. Until then, payments must be made in cash at a convenience store. Credit cards and debit cards cannot be used.

It is also advisable to open a bank account that can be used internationally (for example, CITIBANK, STAR, Cirrus, Maestro, etc.) before entering Japan.

IMPORTANT: Common Financial Problems After Arrival

It is always the case at the beginning of the semester that a few students have a very difficult time because they are not able to use the bank cards which they have brought with them from abroad and therefore are not able to withdraw the necessary funds for their everyday lives.

① Please be sure to confirm with your card company/bank that: (1) you will immediately be able to withdraw funds after arriving in Japan with your card, and (2) that you know exactly how to use the card. Please make it a point to remember your pin number to avoid having your account blocked.

② It is sometimes the case that students do not inform the bank in their home country of their exchange study period, and their bank card is frozen due to sudden use in another country. Please be sure to inform your bank that you will be studying abroad to avoid this problem.

③ There is often a daily limit for withdrawing money internationally from one's bank in their home country. Please be well aware of what the daily limit is, so you can surely make initial dormitory payments, as well as have enough for initial living expenses. If your bank will not allow you to withdraw enough money shortly after your arrival, please be sure to bring sufficient funds with you.

Health Insurance

Regardless of whether you are insured in your home country, students who will study in Japan for more than three months (i.e., three months and one day or longer) are required to enroll in Japan's National Health Insurance system. The insurance premium is approximately 1,500 to 2,000 yen per month. Enrollment procedures must be completed at the ward office near the university after admission.

Before traveling to Japan, you must enroll in overseas travel insurance or accident insurance that covers the entire duration of your exchange program. In particular, choosing a plan that includes personal liability coverage can help reduce financial burdens in the event of unexpected accidents.

To ensure a safe and secure study abroad experience, please make sure to enroll in appropriate insurance and review the coverage details prior to your departure.
